

CONTACT

christian.croona@hyperisland.se

christiancroona.com

Hi, I'm CHRISTIAN CROONA a technically savvy person who loves diving into new challenges and solving problems both on my own as well as in a team. Actually, partly scratch that, it's in teams that I flourish the most.

2016

Front end developer Intern at Our Interest (A Schibsted Media Company), Stockholm (20 week internship)

Web application development in vue.js at a fintech start-up, my role was both as a developer with focus on UX aspects as well as facilitating brainstorming workshops and team building workshops.

2015-2016

Mobile Creative at Hyper Island, Stockholm

A practical university bachelor's degree with focus on all aspects of mobile development. Both the tech side with webdevelopment and native apps, the design (UI/UX) as well as service design, which alongside with always working in teams is at the core of the education.

2008-2013

Master of science in Media Technology KTH, Stockholm

I studied four years at a technical university, studying technology in a broad sense related to the media industry, from analog printing presses to math, physics, databases and HCI. Great fun (and despair) and I still haven't graduated yet.

2010-2013

Tutor at Studybuddy AB, part-time/extra

I helped kids and teenagers with their homeworks, mostly in math. I got to try different learning techniques and sometimes had to improvise in order to help the students learn. Teaching and helping people solve problems is something I love and I'm happy that I got to meet and help a lot of students and at the same time get some practical training in tutoring.

2012-2015

Waiter at Restaurant Gondolen, Stockholm

Providing a good service to guests during stressful conditions and be flexible, as working conditions can change from one moment to another depending on the guests. Apart from learning about food and drinks, the service aspect is what I will bring with me.